

Allison Shreeve in very tight shorts - nice!

introduce Wojtek's friend and training partner, Keith Atkinson. Oh dear, that friendship could be on thin ice as Keith accidentally captapulted right in front of Wojtek causing the Polish King to crash. Rumours that Antoine was seen paying Keith a wad of euros back on the beach have been quashed by the organisers!!

These things happen on a race course and it may not have affected the overall result anyway, but now I'm just trying to make Keith feel better. And Keith did come 21st overall making him the top Brit after Ross Williams. Feeling any better?

Allison Shreeve, meanwhile, decided to win both races today, no messing. There was alot of pressure on Lucy Horwood, she wanted to win but she also wanted that second place so she would become the European Champion. (Allison is an Aussie) Lucy had been advised to stay home and train on the NEW Olympic board like a good girl, but Lucy just loves to compete and going home with that title was a fitting response.

So the last race of the men's event saw that other famous Aussie get his act together and take a bullet (meaning he came first in racing speak). Micah got second and Antoine came in third but after 15 races over 5 days, he emerged the European Formula Champion - not bad!!

Lucy Horwood finishing just ahead of Verena Fauster
